

the palm- leaf

alone.
the harsh beauty.
salt waves
strike the sandward grain.
the palm-leaf
totters at the edge,
sings
on a blade
of vision what
green grasps of light
are falling
against the water.

—JOE BLANKENSHIP